TRST CASE UNDER THE PLUMBING LAW. WARNING TO "SKIN" PLUMBERS-JOHN F. CROTTY * FINED $50.

John F. Crotty, of No. 232 East One-hundred-and-twenty-first-st., the plumber who was held in $500 bail in the Harlem Folics Court a few days ago on charge of having violated the plumbing law, was arraigned yesterday in the Court of Special Sesions before Justices Bixby, White and Power. Mr. Banker, who appeared in behalf of the Board of Health to urge the prosecution of Crotty, wtated that Crotty accepted the contract to do the plumbing for five houses at Alexander-ave, and One-hundred-and-thirty-fifth-st. The specifications approved by the Board of Health embraced basins properly trapped, house drains trapped at the sewer, and all traps ventilated by a pipe extending from the heel of this trap to the ventilating pipe running to and through the roof. Crotty, however, ran a pipe a short distance above the heel of one trap, and then terminated it, leaving the mouth open. He ran a branch waste pipe into the room. The end of one of the large soil pipes was left open in the cellar, the opening being concealed by a beam. There were also many other serious defectis in the plumbing of the houses. The connections had been made with iron ferules instead of brass or copper. In one case Crotty had sawed off pieces of lead pipe, and used these sections as ferules. Some of the joints were left open, the pipes being merely telescoped into each other. At some of the joints putty was used, and at others putty and lead. There was not a properly arranged and set-up trapor connection in the whole five houses. Mr. Banker said that this was a case that was closely watched by the other "skin plumbers" in this city. The effect aiready had been so whole-some that many had applied to the Health Department to know whether or not any complaints were to be made against them. If so, they wished to know it, and would immediately set to work to rectify any violation of which they might be informed.

Crotty admitted that he had violated tha law, but said that cretify any violation of which they might be informed.

Crotty admitted that he had violated tha law, but said that he had done so at the instigation of the owner, who had provided the material and ordered him to proceed with the work just as he had done. He said that he had provided the singerity of his repentance by working with all his might to rectify his bad work, and put the entire planshing in the houses in first-class order. He declared that he would not violate this law again knowingly or wilfully.

Justice flixby and that Crotty was guilty of an net that scertly threatened the health and lives of any persons who might occupy those houses. He had made up his mind to send Crotty to the Penitentiary and inflict the full penalty of the law in case of his convertion. But the Sanitary inspector had supported Crotty's statement that he was doing all in his power to remedy the evil, and therefore he should impose a fine of $50. FUNERAL OF MR. HERRICK.

The funeral of Albert Barnes Herrick, one of the United States District-Attorney's assistants, was held yesterday aftermoon at No. 53 West Unity-nitin-st. The Rev. Dr. John P. Newman conducted the services, which consisted of prayer, reading of the Seriptures and a brief address. There was no singing, on account of the illness of a lady in the house. The parlors, hail and stairs were filled with Briends of the decease d man and many were unable to gain admittance to the house. The body lay in the parlor in a coffin which was hidden by the numerous floral tributes from friends and from Mr. Herrick's associates in the District-Attorney's office. His father and mother were present and among the relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Catlin. The legal profession was largely represented and so were the Union League, the Union. Manhattan, Century and Saturday Night Clubs, the Bar Association, the New-England and other societies. The high of the Union League Club was at half mast, and the following members attended the funeral in a body: Junge Horace Russell, Surrogate Rolans, Marvelle W. Twenty-four of the letters were addressed to Wilmungton, Dat; ten to Pover, Del., and one letter each to Warwick and Keat Island, Md., and to Little Creek Landing. Del. A number of unaddressed newspapers were also found. The letters were forwarded to Superhutendent K. C. Jackson, of the Rai way Mail Service, in this city, and he, on December 23, sent them to their different destinations. Yesterday he received a communication from Postmaster W. Y. Swiggett, of Wilmington, Del., in which was described the distribution of the letters and their contents. Some of them panelold deuts, and others reminied the receivers of creditors; one contained a bank check for $25, and another had within its envelope a draft for $248. There was in one of the letters an order for resh fish. A gilt-edged card was an invitation to attend a bail in 1871, but the person to whom it was addressed was beyond the fascinations of the dance. Several persons received letters from people whose funerals they had long ago attended.

The envelopes of the letters were yellow with age, but the interiors were to all appearance as bright as when they were first addressed.

NOT THE OVERFLOW THEY EXPECTED.

Information has reached the Commissioners of Emigration that Congressman Guenther, of Wisconsin, has stated in Washington that he recently visited New-York to investigate the condition of Castle Garden and the accommodations for immigrants received here. It is stated that Mr. Guenther reported that he found a horrible state of allairs at Castle Garden, and that "the immigrants quarters were frightful and not lit for the accommodation of hogs." The Commissioners know nothing about the surreptitions visit of Mr. Guenther, and assert that his statements are untrue in every par icular, unless he considers the housing of 200 destinate to keep them from starving, "a frightful condition of things." A resolution adopted by the commission on Thursday provides for returning these to their country. Yesterday, however, they declined to return to Hungary. They said that if they were to starve, they would pieter to do so in this country. They added that they had been induced by agents, who represented that this country was overflowing with wealth, to self their little lands and emigrate. Paul O. Esterhazy said that they were from the northern districts of Hungary, and in good wine seasons diafairly well. When there was an overproduction of wine and it became cheaper than barrels, then they suffered for want of money to buy the latter. Mr. Esterhazy will try to secure employment for them. NOT THE OVERFLOW THEY EXPECTED.

SUNDAY WORK IN THE POST OFFICE.

The presentation in the United States Senate of a memorial from citizens of California for the abolition of labor on Sunday in the Post-Offices of the country, has not excited any great hopes among the clerks of the New-York office. About a third of the clerks employed in writing, a large proportion of the distributing clerks, and some of the carriers who serve as collectors, report for duty on Sunday. The business of the office could scarcely be disposed of without Sunday work. When an ocean mail steamer arrives at this port on Sunday morning the force of men who are liable to be called on at any time are set to work, in order that the mail may be disposed of before another steamer arrives. The letters deposited at the office have to be distributed on the day on which they are received, or there will be confusion. Postmaster Pearson similed yesterday when the project of the tanforma memorialists was mentioned to him. He said that if anybody had scruples on the subject he need not call for his letters on Sunday; but there was no need of interfering with those who found it necessary to have their letters on that day. The amount of work done on Sunday is about one-third that of other days. The heavy newspaper mails and the foreign mails furnish a large part of the regular work.

MR. PINNEY'S CHARACTER,

The examination in the charge of criminal libel preferred by George M. Pinney, manager of the Inyo Consolidated Mining and Mineral Company, against William Hamilton and Vernon Seaman, dealers in mining stocks at No. 61 Broadway, was continued before Justice Murray yesterday afternoon in the Court of Special Sessions. The first witness was Henry A. Gildersleeve. Judge of the Court of General Sessions. He said that he was only aequainted with the character and reputation of Pinney in New-York. What he knew of him was favorable. Judge Gildersleeve added that he was the president of the company. Before he consented to become an officer of the organization, he had inquired into its. condition, which he had found to be good. It was expected that the company would soon be able to declare a dividend. Richard McCormick was next called by the prosecution. He said that Pinney's reputation was good. G. W. Thomas thought that the prosecution of Pinney in San Francisco had originated in political quarrels. C. H. Spence gave evidence to the same effect. William R. Orr, bookkeeper at the St. Cloud Hotel, at Forty-second-st. and Broadway, stated that he knew Seaman, one of the defendants. Seaman had said in conversation that Pinney was a forger, a thief and a "beat," in loud and hoisterous tones.

An injunction was granted by Judge Donohne on Thursday preventing interference by the Park Commissioners and the Commissioners of Public Works with the New-York Elevated Rai way in building a station at Battery-place and Greenwich-st. A DECISION FROM WHICH THERE IS NO APPEAL. The Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange, to whom was referred the appeal of Lane & Son from the decision of the Grain Committee in their claim against Husted & Hazeitine, yesterday referred the matter to the Law Committee. The appeal was made upon the belief that the Grain Committee had misconstrued the facts. It is the opinion of members of the board and of the Law Committee that they have no jurisdiction and that the decision cannot be appealed from.

The Board of Aldermen of Long Island City held a meeting yesterday aftern-on and directed the Law Committee to prepare a bill to be presented to the Legislature, giving them a salary for their services. They also cassed a resolution instructing Senator Covert and Assemblyman-elect George E. Bulmer not to introduce any measures in the Legislature without their approval. The Law Committee were bloomly employed to the act passed by the last Legislature to facilitate the cell-action of taxes in the city, so as to make it effective. The act referred to contained a provision that exempted all property from sale for unpaid taxes that had mortgages up in it. This section in the opinion of the Aldermen, made the act unconstitutional. Thomas Atkinson, exporter of flour, grain and provisions at Nos. 2 and 4 stone-st., was suspended from the Produce Exchange yesterday, during the pleasure of the Board of Managers. It appears that Mr. Atkinson had an open account with John Adams, who has an office in the building and who represents a Glasgow exporting firm. There was some difficulty about setting their differences and the matter was referred to the Complaint Colomittee and thence to the Board of Managers, who appointed a special committee on arbitration. Mr. Atkinson appeared indifferent as to any official action, and the matter was again referred to the Board, which suspended him for unbusiness-like conduct.
